Complex – Endurance needed. Many tight turns on two-lane roads with possible uneven pavement and elevation changes for several miles at a time. This is not for the Novice or New Rider. If you are not comfortable and/or confident on tight, twisty canyon roads, this ride is not for you. Requires above average motorcycle skills. You may also be subjected to high (90⁰ +) temperatures. Advance Rider Course skill a plus and advisable. This is not for faint of heart as this is not your grandmother's easy ride to go on. This ride will test your skills and endurance. Know your own limitations and make a wise choice.

Moderate to Complex - Some complexity to the ride with moderate turns and elevation changes. Fewer stretches of road with these turns and elevation changes. Good riding skills required with rides under your belt that involved staggered and single file riding for long periods of time. Endurance needed.
